Two-Way Communication

Tangerpay now has two-way communication integration with various laundry machine brands. Leveraging two-way serial communication, this integration ensures a frictionless journey for laundry customers.

Program selections—like cycle type or temperature—sync instantly between the machine and the kiosk/mobile app in real-time, regardless of where the selection is made. This allows customers to toggle settings at either point before finishing their payment.

> Customer service is brilliant! The ones providing technical support are great. With my old provider, it was difficult to communicate what I wanted and I would not hear back for several days.
